INTRODUCTION

The effort to compile some of the data files published here was undertaken in the early 1990's. At the time, we had no Internet and the introduction of CD ROM technology to computer users had not yet occurred. Further, among the fellows who worked on the project, only one had a computer. So when the work of compiling the data from our collections was complete, five sets of the tables were printed up (one for each contributor) and the project was closed. Or so it seemed until David Crotty heard about the data and approached me to find out if it had been saved in digital format. Fortunately it had. There was just too much work represented to let it slip away.

The idea of compiling lists of meters produced by the early manufacturers along with permit numbers, the postage which they vended and the businesses which used them was of course not new. Indeed, Archie Pike published a list of the early Type B and C meters of The Postal Meter Company (later Pitney Bowes) soon after the oval meters were introduced. His first list consisted of about 1500 lines of data and claimed to be complete through May 19, 1922! It may well have been the only "complete" list ever compiled. because Pike's information was supplied by none other than Arthur Pitney. It's rumored that Pitney was taken to the woodshed for revealing corporate data. In any event, no such records about its meters were ever voluntarily offered by the company again.

Pike later added to his list in a supplement and in 1931, another list was published by William Steiger. It consisted of about 8900 lines of data. and was also followed with a supplement with another 2300 lines. Steiger's lists did branch out to include the other oval meter manufacturers.

To the best of our knowledge, no one subsequently undertook to update the data until the effort in the 1990's commenced. The enormity of the task will be appreciated by most meter collectors. Further, reference to the statistical tables which are appended make it obvious that metered mail took hold very quickly.

It is worthy of note that neither Pike nor Steiger undertook to record dates of usage of the meters which they listed, and this seemed a fairly critical omission. As any collector knows, postage meters (and especially the fixed rate ovals), were often moved from user to user, and each time this was done the "die" which printed the indicia had to be changed to reflect the new facts surrounding its use. A meter might see its first usage with Company A. Since meters were leased, Company A might drop their lease and the machine would be re-tooled with a new permit number for Company B. While in service to B, it might then have to be re-valued to reflect a change in the amount of postage which it imprinted as requested by the user or a change in postal rates. Indeed, this went on all of the time. We wanted to illuminate these changes by recording dates of usage.

So the plan was simple enough: Let's get it all!

The data collection effort was organized by sending letters to about 75 members of the Meter Stamp Society. While addressees were selected somewhat at random, As a general statement, those with low membership numbers were presumed to have the largest collections and were approached first. Quite a number of recipients were supportive in their response; but far fewer had collections of early material on which we would focus and were also able to commit to the effort needed. When the dust settled, we had 4 committed collectors with substantial collections. (It is worthy of note that several additional people contributed short lists. In the almost 20 years since the work was done, their names are lost.)

To get started, the Steiger (1, 2) and Pike (3) lists were transcribed into a computer spreadsheet database. A data sheet was then prepared and distributed to each of our co-workers who logged meter usage as revealed by material in their collections. Each collector worked at his own pace, submitting data on an approximately once a month basis. Lists were often 20 or 25 pages long. Information carried on the datasheets was then transcribed into the main database. It is worthy of note that such was the motivation of the contributors that no one ever fell behind in his (all were men) effort, and the effort went on for several years.

That said, the major contributors to the catalogue were:

Mr. Joseph Banchak
Mr. Alan Draves
Mr. Edwin Lapham
Mr. Malcolm Merrihew

They are a great bunch of guys, to whom I wish to say "Thank you!"

The story might well be over had not David Crotty approached me as noted below. Since then, however, spurred on by his effort to find some way to publish the meter lists, we discovered that two of the above named original participants – Draves and Banchak – have carried on what was done earlier. Indeed, the work done by the two (separately) makes the earlier effort seem a walk-in-the park. The “C” Type files offered here are the original set but supplemented by Draves culling data from significant additions to his collection. In addition, the files which offer data on the D and F Types are solely Draves’ work.

Joe Banchak's work on the gamut of the D and G types will, we hope, be added as it is made available.

Editor's Note

It was with great surprise and wonder that I became aware of this group of meter number lists by Baird, Banchak, Draves, Lapham and Merrihew. I knew of the call in the early 1990's for information but I never knew the extent of the work that had been done. Part of my amazement was simply that the data still existed in readable form. File formats change, data programs become obsolete and become incompatible on newer operating systems and, most important, floppy disks have a way of failing after a few years of storage. If you have material not currently in these lists please mail or email the following form to the editor of the Meter Stamp Society Quaterly Bulletin. I will forward the data. A copy of this form will be posted at the MSS website.

Notes on Postage Meter Catalog Numbers

From the 1930's a number of authors have provided guidance to collectors by publishing a catalog of postage meter types. Five are worthy of note:

1. A Handbook of United States Postage Meters, William C. Steiger, 1940
2. The Meter Postage Stamp Catalogue, S. D. Barfoot and Werner Simon, 1953
3. The United States Postage Meter Stamp Catalog, Werner Simon, David Walsh 1976, Addendum 1991.
4. United States Postage Meter Stamp Catalog ("USPMSC"), Joel A. Hawkins and Richard Stambaugh, 1994, updated in the MSS Bulletin 2003.
5. The International Meter Stamp Catalog ("IPMSC"), Joel A. Hawkins and Richard Stambaugh, 2005. Updated on the web 2009/2010.

The tables published here are listings of postage meters with the original Square indicia and the Oval Indicia from six companies. The tables also include a few of the Square Stamp designs, and the Flying Eagle. The type listings for these designs from the five catalogs are summarized in the Table 1.

I. PITNEY BOWES Postage Meter Company

Pitney Bowes placed the first US postage meter in service on August 5, 1921. The growth of the US postage meter market is shown in Table 2. The percentage grew over the years to a peak of about 46% in the mid-1950's where it remains today.

Table 3 shows Pitney Bowes' annual production of many of its models from the beginning in 1920 through 1956. Information offered here was obtained from Freedom of Information Act releases pertaining to a federal anti-trust investigation in the 1950's alleging that Pitney Bowes' acquisition of certain competitors in its early days had violated anti-trust laws. Mailometer Company was one of the competitors named in the complaint.

Postage Meters in Use Early 1920's

While the meter production statistics shown in Table 3, some of the data obtained from the Freedom of Information Act request included the total number of meters actually in service during the early 1920's. Figure 1 presents that data which includes both the Square Type BA indicia and the replacement Oval Type C.

I. PITNEY BOWES

A. Pitney Bowes Square Indicia Type BA

Pitney Bowes placed the first of its early postage meters into service on December 10, 1920. The design of the first indicium is known as Type BA1 using the United States Postage Meter Stamp Catalog (USPMSC). It should be noted that the wavy lines on either side of the design were required by the Post Office authorities to represent cancellation of the stamp. Postage meter stamps from the beginning were considered pre-cancelled. This practice continues to the present day. A meter stamp may be run through a canceling machines if the date is not clear, but usually the metered envelope becomes mixed with stamped mail.

Figure 1.
Square Indicium USPMSC Type BA1

The table below offers rate data for the 68 meters which used the Square Indicium. Two meters (10 and 1006) were used with two different permit numbers so the total number accounted for is 70. Douglas Kelsy (4) published and discussed a Type BA listing based on the lists provided earlier by Pike (1,2) and Steiger (3). The table of BA meters provided here is more complete than data from those earlier reports.

All the meters in this group were single value meters that had to have their printing dies changed in order to print a different postage value. The ink color was changed as well to follow the colors of postage stamps of that time. The values printed were:

1¢	Green	11 meters
2¢	Red	51 meters
4¢	Brown	6 meters
5¢	Red	Meter 1057, Permit 6
10¢	Yellow	Meter 2, Permit 1

Because this design was so similar to the common postal permit design of the time, the Post Office Department required PB to change the design. The meters were refitted with the Oval (USPMSC Type C) designs by April 15, 1922. Two examples dated in December 1922 are known but are thought to have been used with incorrect dates set.

I. PITNEY BOWES

B. Pitney Bowes Oval Indicia Types CA

Over the years, Pitney Bowes oval indicium meters employed seven variations which are cataloged by USPS as Types CA1 through CA7. All were single denomination meters. Some of the types can be determined just from the meter number but the USPS catalog must be consulted for the rest. Figure 2 shows the basic oval design. As with the square design the wavy lines are meant to indicate that the stamp has been cancelled and does not need to be run through the canceller as do adhesive stamps.

Figure 2
Basic Pitney Bowes Oval Type CA

The single denomination Meter Model M printed these indicia. The meter numbers range from 1-8902. Use of the user permit number in the design became optional after May 9, 1929.

The following table lists what has been compiled for the Pitney Bowes oval meters. The use of the “*” asterisk in the tables may be ignored. In the data compilation process, it was entered to indicate that data available had not been overlooked in the transcription process.

Doug Kelsey (5) took the data presented in the following compilations to determine the number of each denomination found during the survey. The goal was to find the relative scarcity of a particular denomination. These results shown in Table 4 are updated from the earlier publication (5) and were presented in a Linn’s Stamp News article.

Doug Kelsey (5) also used the catalog tables to determine in Table 5 (also updated and published in a Linn's Stamp News article) the relative scarcity of "provisional issues", the use of slugs to temporarily revalue a single denominational meter to another rate. Sometimes the proper die was being prepared and sometimes the rate was needed temporarily

C. Pitney Bowes Oval Indicia Type CK

Pitney Bowes single denomination Models A and B printed an oval design with a separate curved frame inside the outer ovals. An example indicium is shown below. Note that the inner frame contains only a meter number. Earliest use of this design was in July 1933 and postal regulations had been changed to drop the permit number.

Figure 3
Pitney Bowes Oval for Meter Models A and B

The following table shows the meter usage assembled for the Type CK design.

II. The Mail-O-Meter Company

Mailometer Indicia Types CB

The predecessor company to the Mailometer (“Mail-o-Meter) company was the Schermack Mailing Machine Company which pioneered and developed high speed mailing machines employing privately perforated coils using sheets of imperforate stamps supplied by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Although commercial development of the postage meter belongs rightfully to Arthur Pitney, Mailometer was not about to cede rapid mailing to Pitney Bowes – and it accordingly entered the fray and made a good start on competing effectively with Pitney Bowes. The story of why the effort fizzled and how the company was subsequently purchased (and put out of business) by Pitney Bowes makes an interesting story.

In any event, the company accounts for seven indicia which were imprinted by a single denomination postage meter. A characteristic of Mailometer indicia is that the “o” in “No.” for the permit and/or meter numbers is most often underlined; but not always. Further, a similar pattern was employed by International Postal Supply Company. There is enough variety here to keep even experts on their toes!

An example of Mailometer’s Type CB1 follow, Figure 4, after which appears an accounting of observed data for the meters.

III. International Postal Supply Company

International Indicia Type CD

The Oval indicia prints from the single denomination International Postal Supply Company offer a great deal of variety in the format and layout of lettering and numbering within both the oval and town circle, Figure 5. There are essentially five types.

First tests of the International machines were on June 5, 1925 and first commercial installation was on August 2, 1926.

The company operated until the 1960's.

IV. Whitlock Metered Mail Company

Whitlock Indicia Types CE and CG

Whitlock Metered Mail Company's first known commercial use was September 4, 1929. Two basic indicia designs were used, USPMSC Type CE1-CE3 and Type CG1 (Figure 6). The Type CE indicia were employed with meter numbers 82-243 and 310.

A wide range of meter numbers from 215 to 7000 were used for the CG1 design. However, there were far fewer meters than the range would suggest. Large gaps between numbers used are observed.

First use of the CG types was in August 1930.

V. Continental Postage Meter Corporation

Continental Indicia Types CF

Four of the five indicia of Continental Postage Meter Corporation have letter prefixes in front of the meter number (such as the “C” in the example shown below). The single type, CF3, which does not have the letter prefix is found in only four meter numbers and examples are rare. Take care: The CF1, CF2, CF4 and CF5 United States Postal Meter Company design types show a letter prefix before the meter number.

The first known usage of Continental’s meter was February 1, 1930.

VI. United States Postal Meter Company

United States Postal Meter Oval Indicia Type CH

The United States Postal Meter Company's six cataloged indicia types (CH1 to CH6) lack permit numbers. One of the six types, CH1, employs a prefix letter, and the indicia tend to be rather distinctive as shown in the illustration below, Figure 8. First known usage was December 1931.

VII. FLYING EAGLE INDICIA

A. The Pitney Bowes Flying Eagle Indicia Types FA/FB

The Pitney Bowes Flying Eagle indicia are known as USPMSC types FA1 and FB1-FB8. The product of Pitney Bowes' first omni denominational meters, which could print any desired postage value within a range. These indicia are of great interest to collectors and early examples are quite rare. The following tables show a compilation of Types FA1 and some of the meters in types FB1-FB4.

Figure 9
USPMSC Indicia Type FA

Figure 10
One of the eight USPMSC Type FB designs

Collectors should note: The Flying Eagles are highly worthy of study and specialization. Meter numbers represented in the table below do not do justice to the Types. Meter numbers begin at 90001 and end at 90796. Numbers shown here stop at 90113. Much work to be done/fun to be had.

Note that in Table 14, the H63 column shows the number of reports of that meter number shown in the Harsh 1963 catalog, the H65 column shows the number of new reports of that meter number in the Harsh 1965 catalog. The Harsh Total column shows the total number of reports of the meter number.

VII. FLYING EAGLE and SQUARE STAMP INDICIA

D. United States Postal Meter Company Type DG

The United States Postal Meter Company's multi denominational Square Stamplike indicia are listed at USPMSC Types DG1 and DG2. The first known usage was in April 1937.

Indicia Types DG1 and DG2 were very similar. For Type DG1 all lines inside the indicia were equal in thickness. For the Type DG2 some internal lines were thicker.
